H&M Studio Holiday 2026 draws on the theatrical spirit of early 1900s Paris opera houses and grand salons. Orlebar Brown presents Cruise 2026: Sunshine on Lake Como, a new collection inspired by the romance, intrigue and effortless elegance of one of Italy's most iconic destinations.

At the heart of the collection is a celebration of Italian craftsmanship, with fine silk, linen and knitwear created in the region. QASIMI

QASIMI PRESENTS SPRING SUMMER 27: UNDERCURRENT

For Spring/Summer 2027, QASIMI presents Undercurrent, a collection shaped by labour, process and repetition. Exploring how garments carry the traces of their making, the collection considers clothing as an evolving record of gesture, time and transformation rather than a finished object. Relaxed tailoring, modular construction and material manipulation define the season. Deep pleats structure shirts and outerwear, sheer layers reveal the architecture of garments, and exposed threads, displaced seams and visible construction details celebrate the act of making. Silhouettes move fluidly between utility and refinement, balancing precision with ease.

Undercurrent expands QASIMI's signature wardrobe of relaxed tailoring, seasonless layering and wearable workwear. As with last season, manual dyes stain relaxed twill tailoring, exposing the marks of the treatment and reinforcing the collection's focus on process. Classic denim arrives in pleated and barrel-leg silhouettes, worn with ease. The house's signature check returns in a lightweight modal, while knitwear silhouettes inspired by Khalid Al-Qasimi's earlier work are revisited through a contemporary lens.

TARUN TAHILIANI CLOSED DUBAI FASHION WEEK, MARKING A NEW CHAPTER FOR THE HOUSE IN THE MIDDLE EAST

ndian couturier Tarun Tahiliani closed Dubai Fashion Week with The Many Moods of TT, a presentation that brings together the many expressions of a house shaped by three decades of design, craftsmanship and an enduring dialogue between tradition and modernity. The show marked a significant moment for the house, preceding the opening of its first Dubai store in Jumeirah.

Rather than presenting a single collection, The Many Moods of TT offers a view of the house in its entirety. Across approximately 70 models, the presentation moved through occasion wear, bridal, couture, menswear and OTT, bringing together different facets of Tahiliani's design language. An audiovisual opening, featuring the designer's own voice, set the context for a practice rooted in India's rich design history; from the art of draping and the intricacy of embroidery to the precision of tailoring and the many cultural influences that have shaped the country's visual vocabulary.

For Tahiliani, the Dubai presentation was not simply a showcase of the past three decades, but an expression of how the house continues to evolve, retaining its roots while finding new points of connection across cultures.

Parure Atelier

PARURE ATELIER PRESENTS ITS YELLOW DIAMOND COLLECTION

Parure Atelier presents yellow diamonds, precious stones in which the natural beauty of color meets the art of fine jewelry. From the subtlest golden hue to a rich, sunlit radiance, each stone reveals its own character, transforming color into an aesthetic statement in its own right.

Fancy color diamonds hold a special place in the world of high jewelry. Their value lies not only in their rarity, but also in the individuality of each hue. An introduction to this palette often begins with yellow diamonds, stones in which light takes on a warm, almost tangible dimension.

Yellow diamonds need no additional symbolism to command attention. Their expressiveness is inherent in the stones themselves, in a hue formed over millions of years and in their ability to reveal new depths of color with every movement of light.

For Parure Atelier, working with such stones is an exploration of the individuality of natural materials and a search for the perfect equilibrium between color, form and light. Jewelry featuring yellow diamonds becomes more than an expression of exceptional craftsmanship; it reflects a distinctive vision of beauty, one that is attentive to detail, subtle nuances and the inimitable character of every precious stone.

SWAROVSKI

SWAROVSKI BRINGS JOY TO THE HOLIDAYS

This holiday season, Swarovski takes the stage with JOY: The Swarovski Musical. Global Brand Ambassador Ariana Grande stars as the campaign's leading lady for the grand finale of 2026, appearing in a series of acts that bring the feeling of JOY alive with drama, glamour, and action.

Inspired by classic musical montages, Swarovski Global Creative Director Giovanna Engelbert has established JOY as unapologetically theatrical, inviting everyone to embrace the spotlight and make every moment festive and bright. In this light, every step is choreographed, every entrance is a showstopper, and Ariana shines in Swarovski Jewelry.

Across three acts, Ariana celebrates the icons of the stage through a distinctly Swarovski lens. From Fred Astaire-inspired tailoring adorned with Vienna and Millenia pieces, to the grace of Margot Fonteyn reimagined through Vienna and Mesmera jewelry, Ariana's look culminates as a modern pop icon in Una's high shine form.

BEAUTY

ACQUA DI PARMA PRESENTS GRAND HOTEL SPREZZATURA: A HOLIDAY SEASON OF SUPERLATIVE HOSPITALITY WITH ARTIST AGOSTINO IACURCI

Acqua di Parma invites guests into Grand Hotel Sprezzatura, an immersive universe set high in the Italian Dolomites, where superlative hospitality is expressed at its finest, and an effortless Italian Arte di Vivere is shaped into every detail. With unexpected gestures inspired by the spirit of the Commedia dell'Arte, the hotel's protagonists, from concierge to waiters, move with such rhythm and theatrics that even the most complex situations seem to resolve lightly. Guests become spectators, immersed in an experience that appears all so surreal, where everything just falls into place.

Italian artist Agostino Lacurci translates this universe into a bold and colourful pattern, built on a modular system that turns complexity into an intuitive visual game. Inspired by the logic of a Tangram, he developed an alphabet of essential geometries — architectural facades, mountain profiles, and mask-like presences — that can be recomposed into ever-changing arrangements. This structure echoes the very spirit of Acqua di Parma's festive season with Sprezzatura and Commedia dell'Arte: intertwining languages in which discipline and transformation create an impression of natural grace, masking effort. As in theatrical performance, recurring elements return each time in a new guise, allowing the packaging to unfold as a sequence of distinct yet connected visual stories.

BIOLOGIQUE RECHERCHE
PARIS

BIOLOGIQUE RECHERCHE INTRODUCES SÉRUM VIVANT

Heir to the iconic Masque Vivant Sérum Vivant harnesses microbiome science to correct persistent adult blemishes with no compromise on tolerance. For a long time, blemishes were perceived as an adolescent concern, yet over the past three decades, more adults have been affected by blemishes. Proving the phenomenon is global and growing exponentially and for some, blemishes that appeared during adolescence have not disappeared over time. Instead, they persist and return regularly, while for others, they appear for the very first time in adulthood.

Women are the most affected with studies showing two in five report persistent blemishes after the age of 25. Redness, enlarged pores, discomfort or shine, these late-onset manifestations settle into skin that is more fragile, more sensitive, more prone to dehydration and less able to recover quickly than adolescent skin.

Biologique Recherche recommends beginning with a skin diagnosis combined with a personalised treatment in the cabin. Our Skin Experts will advise a tailor-made routine to extend the benefits of the treatment at home, along with regular follow-up to assess the evolution of results.

A LITTLE MORE EXTRAORDINARY AT NUJUMA, A RITZ-CARLTON RESERVE

Set on a private island, the experience begins with the luxury of time. Guaranteed early check-in and late check-out, or a full 24-hour stay, mean the island is never rushed, with no clock to watch on the first afternoon and no hurry on the last morning. Guests are welcomed into a villa one category above the one they booked, with the same bed configuration, opening onto the sea and a private pool of their own.

Each day starts with complimentary breakfast served against the backdrop of the Red Sea. From there, a SAR 1,000 resort credit per villa opens up the island's flavours and rituals, whether a long seafood lunch at Tabrah, dinner as the sun sets over the water, or an afternoon of restoration at Neyrah Spa.

Completing the offer, 10% off the stay makes the season's most memorable escape even easier to embrace. Bookings made between 1 November and 27 December 2026 secure the full experience: a winter on the Red Sea that is, in every sense, a little more extraordinary.

Resort credit is provided once per villa, per stay, and applies to food, beverage and spa experiences only. It cannot be used towards room charges, taxes or gratuities. Consecutive or back-to-back bookings are eligible for one resort credit only.

THE LONGEVITY SUITE
MILANO

THE LONGEVITY SUITE MILANO LAUNCHES IN RIYADH FOLLOWING ITS TWO YEAR EUROPEAN STUDY OF WOMEN IN THE GCC

The Longevity Suite Milano has arrived in Riyadh, opening its first women-only precision medicine and longevity clinic at 1364 in the Diplomatic Quarter. Before opening its doors, the clinic spent two years studying the women it set out to serve, with its European Scientific Committee, led by Dr. Massimo Gualerzi, examining how modern city life in the region affects sleep, hormones, metabolism and the pace of ageing. The findings shaped every part of the clinic's offer, from comprehensive longevity assessments and regenerative therapies to precision nutrition guided by its proprietary Nutrilipidomics® approach and integrated mind-body support. The result is a private, culturally considered space where women can access European-developed longevity care close to home, with long-term care plans tailored to each woman.
